

ABSTRACT

A transfer chamber of a semiconductor processing tool is adapted to couple to plural process and/or load lock chambers. A reduced number of substrate sensors are provided 5 in the transfer chamber to confirm the presence and/or positioning of substrates with respect to the process and/or load lock chambers. In one embodiment, each process and/or load lock chamber may share sensors with adjacent chambers and with chambers that are not adjacent.